Claims that following his departure from Germany for Switzerland, he was able to maintain contacts in Germany going all the way up to the personal entourage of GÖRING (GERMANY); some time after outbreak of war he proceeded to England where he had been 'captured' by British, thus keeping his Nazi contacts intact; his brother-in-law SCHULIZE-GÄVERNITZ (SWITZERLAND) helped maintain these contacts / source has been told by a reliable informant that Stinnes was in favor with Nazi party until 1939, a few months before outbreak of war; arrived in U.S. under auspices of British, armed with personal letter of introduction to President Roosevelt; reportedly, Roosevelt has never received him / speaks of knowing various U.S. government officials / source feels that his contacts with eminent Nazis place him among those who might favor a negotiated peace.
